

ASSEMBLY HAS MUCH WORK YET

From the Present Outlook,
the Sessions Will Be Prolonged Until After May.

PLENTY OF BILLS

Only Fifty-One Have as Yet Been Sent to the Governor for Approval.

(Special to The Gazette.)
Madison, March 30.—Some apprehension is beginning to be felt concerning the compulsory education bill introduced by Sen. Stout, which was on the senate calendar for final passage Friday, but was laid over until Wednesday. The bill requires children to attend a public, parochial or private school at least eight months each year in cities, and five months in villages or country districts. Every school bill brings the shadow of the Bennett law before the mind of the legislator, and notwithstanding the fact that this bill has the approval of the Lutheran synods of Wisconsin and Missouri, as well as the endorsements of Archbishop Kater and a committee of the Milwaukee Catholic clergy, also, it is said, of Bishops Messmer and Schwabach, the legislators are going to proceed very carefully with it. It was one of the matters considered at the democratic caucus Thursday night, and while several were inclined to favor the bill, the majority were the other way, and the decision was to oppose it. Republican members think the bill is all right, but want to be sure. "You can't always tell what the effect of a bill will be," said one of the leaders yesterday, "and there will be nothing lost if we take time enough to be certain. If there should be any unfortunate effect to the law, we would be held responsible, no matter who else is in favor of the bill now."

Cigarette Bill
The anti-cigarette bill went through the assembly Thursday with equal if not greater ease than it did two years ago, and not a word, so far as known has yet been heard from the American Tobacco company. The bill is just as dramatic as the one killed by the senate two years ago, prohibiting the manufacture or sale of cigarettes or cigarette paper, or substitutes therefor, in Wisconsin. It went to the committee on state affairs in the upper house, which already has the Bird bill on the same subject in charge. This is a different measure, providing what many people consider a prohibitive license fee for the sale of cigarettes. No dealer or person can sell cigarettes or cigarette paper, without obtaining a license from the city or village, the fee for which is fixed at $300. In addition to this he must give a bond of $1,000 as a guarantee that he will conform to the law against the sale of cigarettes to minors. Selling either cigarettes or cigarette paper to a minor is punishable by a fine of $25 to $50, or from one to three months' imprisonment.

Behind Calendar
This legislature is considerably behind its predecessor of two years ago, so far as enacting laws is concerned, though a large number of bills have been killed. Yesterday only 51 bills had reached the governor, while on the same date two years ago 152 were in his hands. He has signed but 20 of these bills thus far, and vetoed two.

Roosevelt's Visit
The event of this week will be the visit of President Roosevelt on Friday. The president and party will reach here at 4 a. m., but will not reach until 9 o'clock, when the president will be escorted to the capitol, give an address to the legislature, and leave again at 11 o'clock for Milwaukee. This will preclude any legislative business on Friday, and the following Tuesday being election day, the legislature will probably adjourn over until Wednesday.

DOWLING DOES NOT WANT PLACE

Democratic Nominee for City Clerk, Hands in His Declination.

Thomas Dowling has decided to decline the nomination for city clerk, given him at the democratic convention Saturday night. His declination papers were filed this morning with Clerk Badger. Unless the vacancy is filled today by the city committee it will leave Clerk Badger without an opponent outside the social democratic nominee.

RE SLAUGHTERED BY TURKS

Vienna, March 30.—It is reported from Belgrade that one of the hands armed by the Macedonian leader Karaoff, consisting of forty men, has been annihilated, twenty-nine of the insurgents being killed at Vladimiriv and the remainder at Podareshe. At Jaslowz, near Serres, thirteen revolutionary Macedonians have been killed by a Turkish force.

BURDICK CASE
IS REOPENED

Justice Murphy Hears Testimony of Men Who Heard Pennell
Make Threats.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 30.—Before the Pennell inquest was begun in the police court Justice Murphy reopened in a way the Burdick inquest, so as to hear the stories of the bartender and cashier of the Hotel Roland, New York, in whose presence, it is alleged, Arthur Pennell threatened to kill some one.

After the Burdick inquest closed the official inquiry into the death of Pennell began. District Attorney Conworth was present during the examination of witnesses in the Pennell inquest, but Judge Murphy conducted the inquest and questioned witnesses from the bench. Former District Attorney Thomas Penney represented the Pennell family.

Pennell's Insurance.
Several attorneys representing accident insurance companies in which Pennell was insured were present. It is known that some of them are inclined to contest the payment of policies on Pennell's life. Pennell carried $35,000 in accident insurance, none of which has been paid. Besides that, his life was insured for $215,000. The policies, with one exception, were taken out four or five years ago. The suicide clause gives one year from the date of issue as the term during which the insurance, if death was by suicide, would not be payable. Of the $185,000 insurance which is incontestible, four policies, amounting to $30,000, have been paid. If the accident insurance companies contest the payment of risks on Pennell's life the burden of proof must fall upon them.

George Dunbar and William Lannen, employees of Geims' bicycle works, who saw the fatal plunge, were on Kensington avenue, going in the same direction as Pennell's automobile. Pennell sounded the gong three times. At the third ring they looked around. They saw the machine in the middle of the street about fifty yards behind them. They saw Pennell's hand coming down from his head as if he had been reaching for his hat, which they assumed had blown off. About the same time they saw the machine veer toward the curb. In an instant it had jumped the curb and plunged into the quarry. They heard Mrs. Pennell scream, but Pennell uttered no cry.

Bloodstains Are Explained.
The stains found on the casing of the outer door of the Burdick home have been explained by Detective Holmlund. They were made by one of the morgue attendants while removing Burdick's body. He noticed the stain when it was made and commented upon it. The matter will therefore be dropped and no analysis of the marks will be made.

YOUNG WOMAN FIGHTS SALOONS

Retaliates for Her Discharge Because She Headed Band of Slummers.

Kokomo, Ind., March 30.—Miss Carrie Styer, who was discharged from her position in a store because she headed a band of slummers among the saloons, is likely to put the whole liquor fraternity of Kokomo out of business. After her dismissal she canvassed the town with remonstrances and in court put thirteen saloons out of commission for two years. She has remonstrances almost ready for use against all other applicants for licenses and will likely knock out every drinking place in town. Miss Styer, who is a sister of ex-County Treasurer Charles Styer, has the backing of the churches and Civic Federation.

The leaders of the fight say that they will continue the fight to the very finish and will accept nothing short of a ten per cent. increase as the basis of any settlement whatsoever. The strike will be a long one.

Expects to Arrange Terms for Sending the Venezuela Case to The Hague Tribunal.

Washington, March 30.—Minister Bowen hopes to begin work this week with the envoys of the European blockading powers on the protocol for sending to The Hague arbitration tribunal the question whether these nations shall have preferential treatment in the payment of claims of other citizens against Venezuela. Mr. Bowen has submitted to the British ambassador a protocol which provides that the czar of Russia shall name the members of the court. The allies intend to offer amendments to the draft prepared by Venezuela's representative. It is said that there is no objection to the czar naming the members of the court. According to the terms of the protocol of Feb. 13 the first payment of the 39 per cent. of the customs receipts of La Guayra and Puerto Cabello for March are to be paid to the Bank of England's agents at Caracas April 1. This will form the nucleus of the fund with which is to be paid the claims of the various nations that are adjudicated by mixed commissions which are to sit at Caracas.

LABOR TROUBLE WAS AVERTED

Beloit Moulders Asked for More Pay, and a New Scale Was Made.

What threatened to be a serious labor difficulty in Beloit was averted by a conference of representatives of the moulders' union and of the manufacturers of the city. The union had asked a 10 per cent. increase in pay to correspond to the increased cost of living, while their employers contended that the scale they asked was higher than that in Janesville, Rockford, or Madison. Concessions were made on both sides and a medium scale of $2.90 a day for floor moulders and $2.75 a day for bench moulders adopted.

SOLDIERS ABSENT
FROM FUNERAL

Sir Hector McDonald Buried at Edinburgh, Without Military Honors.

INDIGNATION FELT

Refusal of the War Department To Allow Military Funeral, the Cause of Hard Feeling.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)
Edinburgh, March 30.—General Hector McDonald was buried here this morning at six a. m., and but one army officer was present in uniform to do honor to the departed hero of the English army in their recent Boer war.

Pathetic Scene
Civilian Scotchmen endeavored to make the funeral have some dignity but their efforts were pathetically a failure and the entire demonstration was inadequate to fit the solemn occasion of the burial.

General Orders
The refusal of the war department to allow a military funeral because McDonald suicided while under charges has caused anything but favorable comment and much indignation is shown by the civilians in general.

CASE AGAINST LABOR
LEADERS NEARS END

Rosa Schoen of Racine Makes Proposition to Settle Her Suit for Damages.

Racine, Wis., March 30.—The $10,000 suit for damages brought by Rosa Schoen of the Schoen Manufacturing company against twenty-seven members of labor unions will not be brought up for trial unless the defendants demand that it be done. Rosa Schoen made a proposition to the defendants to settle the case, and the matter is now in the hands of Attorneys M. E. Walker of this city and ex-Attorney General James O'Connor of Milwaukee.

The attorneys and a committee of the defendants were in conference, but no decision was reached. Some of the defendants demand that the case go to the highest courts and that it there be decided whether the plaintiff is entitled to any damages on the complaint, which alleges that her business has been damaged to the amount of $10,000 by the strike at the factory and alleged threats to employees.

Attorney O'Connor, who was called into the case by the labor unions, desires a few days to investigate before advising whether to accept the proposition.

WILL IMPROVE
COTTON MILLS

Excavation for New Addition to the Howe Bros' Works Has Begun.

Excavating was this morning begun for an extension to the Rock River Cotton company's plant. The addition will fill the alley between the factory and the Carle warehouse to the north. It will give an additional ground space of 20 by 155 feet, and the building will be four stories in height. Plans have not yet been completed, but it will be utilized, in part, for a picker, bleacher, and dryer. Howe Brothers have under contemplation the installation of a large marine boiler at some time this spring, but it is still undecided what action will be taken.

NO ORGANIZATION WAS PERFECTED

Meeting, Sunday, to Form Laborers'
Union, Await Much Larger Attendance.

Although a meeting was held for that purpose Sunday afternoon, the organization of a local affiliated with the International Laborer's Protective union was not perfected. A large enough number was present to make possible steps toward a charter and organization, but it was thought best to wait for an even larger gathering before taking decisive action. The meeting was held in the Bricklayers' hall on North Main street.

In effect the Laborers' union is practically the same as the Federal Labor union, with the exception that it is connected with the national organization, while the Federal Labor union is purely local. In places the latter has been superseded by the Laborers' union.

Archbishop Katzer Ill.
Fond du Lac, Wis., March 30.—Archbishop Katzer of Milwaukee is at St. Agnes' hospital on account of ill health. His condition is not what would be considered serious, yet he feels that he needs recuperating.

USE SKIFFS TO RESCUE PEOPLE

Backwater from the Levee Covers the Streets of Greenville.

Greenville, Miss., March 30.—The backwater from the La Grange crevasse is slowly rising, and nearly all of the city is submerged. Business is paralyzed, and people are moving about the city in the southern section in skiffs.

Relief parties with boats have been at work rescuing people in the path of the flood, and the refugees are brought here.

It was said that the mayor instructed the city engineer to cut the protection levee in the northern part of the city, as it is believed it will be the means of letting the water out through Fish lake. The country beyond the lake is much lower than the city, and if the levee is cut it will stop the rise in Greenville and carry away much of the water now in the city.

Trains on Time.
All trains are leaving on schedule time. The shutdown of the electric light plant has forced people to go about with lanterns in skiffs in the town at night.

The flood situation outside of Greenville remains practically unchanged. The waters have covered thousands of acres of the fine delta farms and are sweeping south to Vicksburg. The loss will be heavy, but it is impossible to give anything like a correct estimate of the damage at this time.

Relief parties reported that many negroes have been on the tops of houses waiting to be taken away. Arrangements have been made to rescue the cattle in the flooded district, as they are suffering for want of food.

Yazoo City Is Under Water.
Vicksburg, Miss., March 30.—Yazoo City is beginning to feel the effects of water from the La Grange crevasse. The backwater is rising at the rate of two inches a day, and the eastern portion of the town is partly submerged. One fatality occurred there—a negro by the name of Stephens losing his life by the capsizing of a skiff.

Due to Volcanoes.

Louisville, Ky., March 30.—Prof. Felix Kerrick, instructor of science at the manual training school, believes that the present flood in the Mississippi valley is due to the presence in the atmosphere of volcanic dust from eruptions in the West Indies. "Floods," he says, "of annual occurrence are due to climatic conditions, but any excess is due entirely to volcanic outbursts. This dust has been caught up by the winds and swept entirely around the globe, but the principal part has been and is still being carried across the central and eastern part of the United States. Most of it has fallen in the Mississippi rain basin. This vapor laden dust causes greater rainfall, and the condition will continue as long as the volcanoes are active."

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES

Herman Esler of Chicago, a student at Yale, committed suicide in a New York hotel, supposedly because of business troubles.

Bridge and structural iron workers of Chicago decided to go on a strike Wednesday unless their demand for sixty cents an hour is granted.

Gustavus Franklin Swift, president of the packing company which bears his name, died unexpectedly in Chicago as the result of an operation.

Rev. W. A. Bartlett of the First Congregational church of Chicago saw a lesson for voters in the use of saloon windows for campaign posters.

In the presence of Chicago society folk and members of the congregation, the Russian Orthodox church, the most unique edifice in Chicago, was dedicated Sunday.

Amendments in the Illinois civil service bill was emphatically condemned at a mass meeting at Powers' theater, Chicago, during which Gracie Stewart, Mayor Harrison and others spoke.

Owners of big Chicago power plants are inclined to take kindly to the new smoke ordinance, and reforms have already begun. Members of the Engineers' club praise the measure and tell of the benefit to be derived by Chicago through its enforcement.

In the annual report of Comptroller McGann of Chicago, just issued, there is shown that a surplus of $1,533,103 existed Jan. 1, 1903, which fact is accounted for by cutting down of corporate expenses and the collection of delinquent taxes.

SISTERS SMASH TWO SALOONS

Kansas Girls Break No Interference
When Seeking Brother.

Winfield, Kan., March 30.—The two daughters of John Osborne of this city, armed with pistols and hatchets, while in search of their brother, Ed Osborne, smashed down doors and destroyed other property at two saloons. They first visited Arthur Schmidt's place in North Main street and, being refused admittance, battered down the front door. The bartender attempted to draw his revolver, when the sisters promptly covered him with their pistols and he dropped down behind the counter. Before leaving the place they smashed a number of bottles and glasses. At another place nearby they smashed a large front window when refused admittance. They were not arrested.

RUGER DECIDES TO WITHDRAW

Makes Public Statement
That He Is Not a Candidate for the Election.

PERSONAL REASON

Had Tried to Resign Before,
But Could Not Do
So According to Law.

Owing to personal affairs that have arisen, Mr. William Ruger has decided to withdraw from the race for justice for the supreme court to succeed Judge Bardeen, deceased. This decision was reached this morning and Mr. Ruger has made the following public withdrawal of his name from the contest.

The Statement
For reasons not deemed of interest to the public in general, I have decided to withdraw my candidacy for the office of associate justice of the supreme court. To this end I executed an instrument of declaration, and filed the same in office of the secretary of state, intending that my candidacy should be thereby annulled, and that my name should not appear on the official ballots.

I am now advised that the proper authorities have decided that my declaration was not filed in time to authorize the omission of my name from the ballots, and that it will therefore appear.

In view of this situation I desire that the press, throughout the state, publish this communication in order that it may be understood by the electors at large that I am not now a candidate.

Janesville, Wis., March 30, 1903.
William Ruger.

Judge Siebecker
The withdrawal of Mr. Ruger leaves Judge Siebecker of Madison the only candidate in the field and assures his election. It is a disappointment to many of Mr. Ruger's friends that he has decided to withdraw his name as they considered that he was deserving of the honor they hoped to present him with.

WILL INSPECT A HERD OF CATTLE

State Veterinarian Roberts is at Hawthorne, Looking After Glandered Animals.

State Veterinarian, E. D. Roberts, left for Hawthorne, Wis., Saturday and Dr. Brindhall, state veterinarian for Minnesota, at that place yesterday. They have been called there on account of an epidemic of glanders among the horses at the Nusser-Santry Land and Logging company's camps.

Dr. Roberts was at Hawthorne a few days ago and found several horses sick with the disease and had them quarantined. Most of the horses employed at the company's five logging camps came from Stillwater Minn., and the owners are anxious to send them back to that place. Dr. Brindhall would not allow this to be done until he had inspected the horses and found out how many are affected by the disease. There are quite a number of the horses that will have to be killed, and the balance will be quarantined.

Very Dangerous
The disease is very dangerous to horses and the state officers are making extra efforts to stamp it out in this state. It has been found that most of the cases are among horses imported from other states where the quarantine laws are not as strict as in Wisconsin. Dr. Roberts would be glad to have the horses at Hawthorne removed to Minnesota, as they belong there and it would relieve the state of the cost of caring for them and get the diseased animals where they would not affect the others at the camp.

RELIEF PLAN IS EFFECTIVE

Czar Cancels Millions of Taxes and Assumes District Debts.

St. Petersburg, March 30.—The measures for the relief of the peasants, outlined in the czar's recent reform decrees, are already being carried out. Arrears of taxes amounting to about $57,000,000 have been canceled and overdue taxation exceeding $15,000,000 which the peasants owe to the district authorities have been assumed by the central government. Other measures alleviating the burdens on the peasantry are expected to be adopted shortly.

Fire in Joliet Prison.

Joliet, Ill., March 30.—A fire in the penitentiary started in the broom department. The guards and convicts fought the flames, but they threatened to spread, and the city fire department was summoned. The loss is estimated at $2,000.

Strike on Eastern Illinois.

Danville, Ill., March 30.—About 500 shop employees of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad struck. The trouble is said to have been caused by the discharge of eighty-five men.

FROM 1803 TO 1903 IS A RECORD WHICH IS NOT OFTEN EQUALLED

MRS. SUSAN CROSSMAN PASSES CENTURY MARK.

FIVE GENERATIONS PRESENT

Her Birthday Was Celebrated on Saturday Last, at the Eddy Farm, Near Afton.

Afton, Wis., March 30.—A centennial anniversary is always an event of more than passing importance and especially so if it marks a full century of human existence.

In these days of twentieth century activity we can well afford to pause and contemplate a life that has rounded out one hundred years, because such a life has been lived in the most remarkable one hundred years in the world's history. Such an anniversary was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Eddy, two and one-half miles southeast of Afton Saturday, in honor of Mr. Eddy's grandmother, Mrs. Susan D. Crossman. Fortunate indeed were those who could meet with this venerable woman on so memorable an occasion, for it does not come to many to participate in centennial birthdays, and greet and congratulate one who has reached so great an age.

Five Generations.
The gathering at the home of Mr. Eddy comprised both relatives and friends of Grandma Crossman and included among the former all of her children now living, four in number, eight grandchildren, twelve great grandchildren and two great-great grandchildren. A sumptuous dinner, which Mrs. Crossman herself helped to prepare, was served at one o'clock, after which the afternoon was spent in social converse and the singing of familiar hymns. One feature of especial interest was the taking of a group photograph of the entire company with Grandma Crossman as the central figure. The picture was taken by W. H. Gilbert of Independence, Iowa, who brought along a large, portable, camera especially for the occasion.

Many Presents.
Among the presents bestowed upon the centennarian was an easy rocking chair, the gift of the company present; one hundred carnations brought from Camden, N. J., by her daughter, Mrs. Chandler; one hundred carnations from a trio of great granddaughters, the Misses Haley, of Milwaukee; a five-pound box of bonbons from a granddaughter, Mrs. R. C. Haley, of Milwaukee, and many other tokens of affectionate regard from loving relatives. Letters of regret were read from the following grandchildren: William H. Eddy, Titusville, Pa.; Josiah M. Truesdell and Julius A. Truesdell, Washington, D. C.; Warren Crossman, Duluth, Minn.; and from a niece, Mrs. Julietta Rogers, Morris, Ill.

Still Energetic.
Mrs. Crossman is still energetic and self-reliant to a remarkable degree. She busies herself at some light work each day and helps in the housework. Two weeks ago she turned a sheet and her needlework was nicer than many of younger years could have done. She placed her autograph signature on all of the invitations sent out for the birthday party, in itself a remarkable bit of work for a centennarian. Taken in all this anniversary gathering was grandly successful and will ever live in the memory of those present as one of the most remarkable and interesting occasions in which they had the pleasure of participating.

Rode Four Miles.
Sunday morning Grandma Crossman rode the two and one-half miles to Afton to attend the services at the Baptist church, listening to a sermon delivered by one of her grand sons, Rev. C. J. Eddy, of Denmark, Iowa.

Remarkable Story.
The following story of her life, prepared by her daughter, Mrs. Helen M. Chandler, of Camden, N. J., will be read with interest: Mrs. Susan D. (Clapp) Crossman is a descendant of the seventh generation of Thomas Clapp, who came over from England in 1633 and settled in Dorchester, Mass., where he lived a few years and then removed to Seltimate.

His son Increase and grandson John settled in Dorchester, Mass., which became the home of her ancestors and was the birthplace of her father. Her great grandmother was a descendant of Edward Winslow, who came over in the Mayflower and was the second governor of Plymouth colony. Her grandfather, Earl Clapp, was a soldier in the old French war, and served through the Revolution, first as captain of a company of minute-men and later as a major in the regular army. He removed to Woodstock, Conn., the latter part of the eighteenth century where he died in 1836 in his ninety-sixth year. One of her great grandfathers, Jeremiah Howe, was a firm friend of the Indians, but was killed by them with two other white men. These two were promptly scalped, but when the savages came to Howe and saw who it was they did not scalp him but mourned over his death at their hands. Mrs. Crossman's ancestry were long-lived. A great aunt lived to be over ninety-nine; an own aunt reached ninety-two; her grandfather died in his ninety-sixth year, her father at the age of seventy-seven, one sister at eighty-six, another at eighty-four, a brother at eighty-three and another at eighty-one. Mrs. Crossman was born at Cheshire, Mass., March 28, 1803.

Her father was a tanner, currier and shoemaker and carried on an extensive business. In 1816 her parents moved to Deerfield, Oneida Co., N. Y., and settled on a farm. Here, at the age of seventeen, she was married to Warren Crossman, son of a neighbor whose farm adjoined that of her father. In 1844 they came west, locating first in Lake county, Ill., but later moving to Rock county. In this state, where they settled on a farm near Afton.

Mrs. Crossman was the mother of seven children who grew to maturity, three sons and four daughters. Her eldest daughter, Helen M., married the late John Hassett Chandler and went with him as a missionary to Burmah and Siam, spending the first part of her life in the Orient. She now resides at Camden, N. J. The second daughter married Rev. W. H. Eddy, and has entered into rest. The third daughter married Robert J. Evans and the fourth married Josiah Truesdell, all of whom have passed away.

CRIPPLE CREEK IS SENSATIONAL

Deals with the Wild and Woolly West in a Most Startling Manner.

"At Cripple Creek" showed itself in two Saturday performances to be far ahead of the usual melodrama of the wild and woolly west. Its actors are more capable, and the situations are usually within the bounds of imagination, at least, if not of reality. At the matinee production the appreciation of the audience was of a very modest and constrained nature, but in the evening, especially near the roof, went crazy in an effort to thank the company for the pleasure they were bestowing.

"Baby Virena" Thayer was one of the favorites of the company. She is a precocious little miss and takes her part with ease and self-possession of a veteran actress. Such words of wisdom from the lips of such a tiny woman were rather incongruous at times, but the audience didn't care. Mae Agnes Mann was another favorite. Her part was not extensive but her evident ability made her many friends. Edward Maas in the low comedy colored part scored many laughs.

IMPERIAL BAND DULY CELEBRATES

Social Was Held at the Band Rooms on Saturday Evening Last.

The first of a series of social gatherings planned for the coming months, was held at the rooms of the Imperial band, Saturday evening. New members of the band and the Kenosha musicians who have recently arrived in this city to take up the opera house orchestra work, were the guests of honor. After some time spent at elench, in which the prize winners were John Koebelin and P. S. Snyder—E. A. Brown and George Munshaw tying with Koebelin for first place—a smoker and refreshments followed, closing a very pleasant evening. The new quarters of the band have been neatly decorated and have many points of advantage over the former rooms. The band is attacking its work with new spirit this year, and a profitable season is anticipated.

A great aunt lived to be over ninety-nine; an own aunt reached ninety-two; her grandfather died in his ninety-sixth year, her father at the age of seventy-seven, one sister at eighty-six, another at eighty-four, a brother at eighty-three and another at eighty-one. Mrs. Crossman was born at Cheshire, Mass., March 28, 1803.

Her father was a tanner, currier and shoemaker and carried on an extensive business. In 1816 her parents moved to Deerfield, Oneida Co., N. Y., and settled on a farm. Here, at the age of seventeen, she was married to Warren Crossman, son of a neighbor whose farm adjoined that of her father. In 1844 they came west, locating first in Lake county, Ill., but later moving to Rock county. In this state, where they settled on a farm near Afton.

Mrs. Crossman was the mother of seven children who grew to maturity, three sons and four daughters. Her eldest daughter, Helen M., married the late John Hassett Chandler and went with him as a missionary to Burmah and Siam, spending the first part of her life in the Orient. She now resides at Camden, N. J. The second daughter married Rev. W. H. Eddy, and has entered into rest. The third daughter married Robert J. Evans and the fourth married Josiah Truesdell, all of whom have passed away.

The invasion of Kentucky does not, as yet, appear to be as extensive as was first supposed. It may be a feat to cover operations elsewhere. We think the "blue grass" region where the Kentucky aristocrats mostly abound, would not be the worst for a short war. If confined to that locality it would be a good thing for general unionism and loyalty.

We continue to hear good accounts

RICHARD, JR.'S, PHILOSOPHY.

Opportunity generally knocks during office hours.

Where matrimony is bliss it is folly to read the divorce news.

Some men lose their own health drinking the health of others.

A good excuse pleases some natures more than a feat accomplished.

Trusts best raise themselves in public esteem by raising wages.

Next to a happy home the brightest spot on earth is the sunny side of a bargain.

Laugh and the world laughs with you. That is, all but the Englishman. He stares at you.

Those who have the most faith in mankind sometimes rent boxes in safe deposit vaults.

Modern society is distinguished by the politeness of its welcome and the cordiality of its farewell.

Only a letter's difference—speculation and peculation; pluck and luck—and in each case one usually leads to the other.

Exercise is just as valuable when done as work as when performed in a gymnasium. The muscles do not know the difference between chopping wood and swing Indian clubs.

Prosperity has come to a pretty pass when the railroads have so much freight they cannot move it. Now if they could only turn it into passengers they might make it hang up by the straps.—Saturday Evening Post.

BITS OF PHILOSOPHY.

It is an easy matter for a man to deceive himself.

Do not insist on having your own way always. Other people are right as often as you are.

The evil genius of every community is the man who understands and tries to manage the business of everybody else.

Just because you have succeeded is no warrant that you may not yet fail. The monument must be erected before it can fall.

There is one consolation when we default on our good resolutions—we are privileged to renew them without protest of us.

A man marries an iceberg and expects to find a flesh and blood woman.

Love is like a garter snake. You do not see it coil about you, but after it gets hold, it's mighty hard to shake off.

There is nothing more pitiful than the suppression of a guy bachelor who has merged into matrimony. He always looks so sorry for himself.

Love making is like a game of cards—you throw away and take all sorts of tricks. Knaves, kings, queens and the deuce take part and when the game is over you have to call a halt as to whether you are glad or sorry that you won or lost.

Envy never discriminates.—Kate Tyson Marr in Milwaukee Sentinel.

Graduated Charges.
Client—"What do you lawyers charge for your ability or the work you do?"
Briefer—"It depends. If I win I charge for the work; if I lose I charge for my legal ability."

Keen Competition for Small Job.
Eight ushers are wanted in the Italian Chamber of Deputies, and over 14,000 applications have been received for the posts, to which salaries of about 16 shillings a week are attached.

Trees to Hide Trolley Poles.
Scarborough (England) corporation has been recommended to plant trees so as to hide the poles carrying electric tramway trolley wires.

And Eats Kansas Beans.
It is claimed that Boston makes the finest quality of Egyptian cigarettes, produces the choicest Italian macaroni and has altogether the best brand of the Irishman in politics.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Monday, March 30, 1863.—The legislature will probably not adjourn today as was expected. A resolution has been adopted by the assembly to continue the session until Thursday, which will most likely be concurred in by the senate. The large amount of unfinished business yet before the legislature is the cause of postponement of the time of adjournment.

The invasion of Kentucky does not, as yet, appear to be as extensive as was first supposed. It may be a feat to cover operations elsewhere. We think the "blue grass" region where the Kentucky aristocrats mostly abound, would not be the worst for a short war. If confined to that locality it would be a good thing for general unionism and loyalty.

of the army of the Potomac, under its new commander. We await the patience its movement upon the enemy, satisfied that Gen. Hooker will attack them as soon as the elements will permit. If the mud is so deep in Virginia as it is here, we can excuse delay, and from all accounts it is bad enough, and has been throughout the winter.

Along the whole line, occupied by our armies, we hear accounts of the arrival of famished and poverty stricken refugees from the rebel states. They no longer consist of slaves and their families, but of poor whites, who no longer are able to find food to keep them from starvation. If the war goes on they must all leave or starve and the slaveholders will be sole occupants of the desert they have created by their oppressions and crimes. This is a retribution for men who deny equal rights to their fellow men.

REVIVALIST BIEDERWOLF IS A MOST POWERFUL SPEAKER

HIS SERMON SUNDAY AFTER-NOON TO MEN ONLY.

THE INTEREST DOES NOT LAG

As Each Meeting Seems To Be Even Greater Than the Preceding One.

One of the most powerful of the Biederwolf-Stout services was that which Rev. Biederwolf delivered Sunday afternoon before an audience composed entirely of men. Every seat in the auditorium of the Congregational church was occupied, and the men listened with intense interest to every word of a fearless and outspoken sermon on the slurs which stain the life of man.

An error in the announcement of the hour caused some little delay in beginning the address, but as this occasioned lengthening the song service, it made the meeting the more pleasant. An orchestra of about ten pieces aided in the singing, and a violin solo was one of the features of the musical program.

Prof. Stout sang "The Holy City." His rendition of this much-abused classic was looked forward to with a great deal of interest, and in his singing of it he was not found wanting. The beautiful words gained new beauty and dignity in his utterance of them. "The Holy City" will be repeated this evening, by request.

Announcements for Week.
Announcements for the coming week were made. Rev. Biederwolf spoke of the wonderful manifestation which God has made of himself during the past week, and of the success attending all of the meetings. He strongly urged the men to attend the services more freely during the week. There will be nothing said or done which can embarrass anyone who attends, be he Christian or not. Everyone will be made welcome.

During the coming week the afternoon services will be held in the Court Street Methodist Episcopal church, in place of the Baptist church where they were held last week. The first afternoon service will be held tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock, which will be a meeting for women, and the general service will be held at 3:00 o'clock.

Next Sunday afternoon another mass meeting will be held for men, and it is hoped that the attendance will be even larger than yesterday. Rev. Biederwolf's exhortation to men to adopt the Christian life follows. His theme was "The White Life."

An Ohio Instance.
There are men here who could stand up today and say, "I mean henceforth to be a Christian man," and whose whole family would come running into the kingdom of God, but because you have not had the courage or have not had the concern to take your stand boldly on the side of God you have been standing in the way of those whom God has given you.

I said this one time in Ohio and a man well on in years came to me at the close of the meeting and said: "Did you mean what you said?" and I replied I did most certainly mean that very thing, and as I took the big man's hand (for he was an unusually large fellow) his lips began to tremble and a tear stole into his eye as he said, "And to think of it that last year my nineteen year old boy was taken from me and in all his life he had never heard his father pray."

And I said, "Mr. Patton, give your heart to God tonight," and he replied, "By the help of God I mean to be a Christian."

The next night when the invitation was given I saw him coming down the aisle with a young lady and when he reached the front he said: "Mr. Biederwolf, this is my daughter." The next night I saw that young lady sitting with another and across the aisle was Mr. Patton with an elderly woman and while the opportunity was being given for people to come to Christ I looked down among those who stood at the front and there stood this man with the other just mentioned and calling me to him he said: "Mr. Biederwolf, this is my other daughter and this is my wife," and there he was with his entire family inside the kingdom of God because he had done at last what for many long years the spirit of God had been constraining him to do.

Effect on Children.
There are men here this afternoon who have been blighting the faith of their wives and by their indifference to the things of God have been throwing wet blankets on the endeavor of the mother to train the little one in the way of Christ; there are fathers here today whose children not only have heard you pray, but in whose little hearts the tender sprout of faith and love is being frozen by your disposition toward Christ and the concerns of the soul.

Oh, man! you've been worse than the Chinese for while they dwarf the feet of their little ones you have been dwarfing their souls and crushing out of their hearts every inclination to be pure and holy and Christ-like. Father, in God's name, what do you mean? You've all doubtless heard this story; I tell it only because it's so forceful; the story of a man going out to his barn one wintry morning after a fresh fall of snow. He did not know his little six-year-old boy was following until he heard the little voice behind him saying, "Papa, I've putting my feet in your tracks," and looking back he saw the child stretching out his little legs and putting his foot in the place made by his father's in the snow. Oh, father, that very thing is true of your child today; putting their feet in your tracks; which way are those tracks leading?

A Dying Convict.
Mrs. J. K. Barney has been called "the prison angel;" she has befriended more prisoners perhaps than any other woman of our day. Entering a New England prison one day the warden said to her, "Mrs. Barney, there is a young prisoner dying; we have sent for his mother but there has been a wreck on the old Cape Colony road and she cannot arrive until her boy is dead. 'Won't you be a mother to him?' Mrs. Barney knew what that meant; she went up to his bed and talked to him about God, and heard him say his faith was in Christ. Then he said, 'Mrs. Barney, they tell me mother can't get here until after I am gone; 'Won't you say to her for me that I asked her to kiss me and say she would forgive me for all my sins against her, and a few moments after the young man was dead. About an hour later the old train came rolling in.

The mother's first inquiry was for her boy and when told he was gone she had to be fairly carried up the stairs to where he lay. Mrs. Barney delivered the message and what do you suppose the mother did? Just what your mother would have done if you had lain in that young man's place. She lifted back the sheet and while the tears streamed from her eyes she kissed his pale face and said, "Joe, your mother has come and she forgives you, but, oh God, his father!"

The Father's Example.
"Mrs. Barney," she said, "I suppose you think that this is a strange prayer to make but when this boy was but nine years old I heard him utter an awful oath and when I reproved him for it, he said, 'Why mama, I heard papa say that last night,' and when he was but twelve I found him half intoxicated and with these arms I carried him into the home and held him until the stupor had worn away and heard him say that the one who had given him the drink was his father." Mrs. Barney, she said, "that was the beginning; this is the end," and stooping down she kissed him again and said, "Joe, your mother has come and she forgives you, but oh, my God, the father."

Listen! men, while I tell you something better than that. A young lad of fourteen lay dying and the broken-hearted father was kneeling by the bedside. "Willie," he said, "I have a sad message for you; the doctor tells me you are dying." The little fellow closed his eyes just a minute and then as a sweet smile stole across his face he opened them and said: "Papa, I'm not afraid to die and when I die I'll hurry up and find out Jesus and tell him I had the best papa in all the world because you taught me all my days to love him."

If Death Came.
Oh, father, if your boy were taken from you tonight could he say a thing like that about you? When the time comes that I must stand by the open grave of those I love I want to be able to lift my face to heaven and say that while they were with me I did all I could to help them be as God would have them be; Don't you? and God knows I could not say that and you could not say it unless we have been earnest and positive Christian men ourselves; and when the time comes when I must meet them again in the presence of the God of us all, I want that they shall be able to witness before Him that I was a help and not a hindrance to them on their way to heaven; Don't you? And if you do will you say? "From this day I mean as far as I can to live the life I believe God wants me to live."

Dream Travels
I saw a purple bank, and, softly swishing through the lilies, ran the nose of the boat into it. As I leaped out, I discovered that it was a bank of violets, the double-double kind, and so sweet-smelling that I threw myself face down into them.
I lay there and thought of my friends
by whom one little bowl of violets would be cherished, and here was I rioting in acres of them—they were so cool and purple and exquisitely fragrant. I sat up and began throwing them into the coiled-shell boat as fast as I could pick them up. "I'll take a boat-load home," I thought, and stepped in.

Down, down through the cool water will I ever reach the bottom? Or the top, for that matter? I gasp, throw out my arms, and am staring through the frosted pane in the moonlight,
and hear a sleepy voice:

"Are you trying to freeze me?"
But I have had my dreams. Who says they are not some compensation and comfort, the dream travels?—
Edna Carter Gates, in April National.

Masters of Their Craft
(McClure's Leader Article for April) McClure's has been showing up the unpleasant side of our national life so strongly for the last few months that it is pleasant to read in the April number the idealistic little article entitled "Masters of Their Craft," by Adrian Kirk, which shows how one can get pleasure out of doing the most ordinary thing and how even the lowest mechanical job becomes a fine art in the hands of a master craftsman; who loves it for its own sake. The author's list of master craftsmen includes a cable-car gripman, a Fifth Avenue bus driver, an expert composi-tor in a newspaper office, and an engineer on the Empire State Express, and a pick-pocket. Mr. Kirk has put into the concrete telling of a few simple episodes—a drive down Fifth Avenue on the bus, a ride up Eighth Avenue on the cable car—a lot of wholesome and heartening philosophy.

Easter Lilies
Although the regular Bermuda lily holds sway throughout the land as the saint among flowers for Easter-tide, the old fashioned calla-lily is still much in evidence and much in favor. In the West and Middle West, where the Bermuda blossoms cannot readily reach, its vogue is un-disputable. Southern California is as famous for the culture of this variety as Bermuda is for the other type. Unlike the over-sea lily, the calla cannot stand much crowding.

If any particular plant fails to receive its full quota of soil and sunshine, it becomes at once a weak sprawling affair, destitute alike of beauty and blossoms. When well cared for, however, as it is in the many splendid hedges that surround so frequently Pacific residences, it is a thing over which no other lily can boast superiority.

It is possible that in the near future that the laurels of lily growing may be snatched away from the Bermuda gentry. Of late years, along the coast of the Carolinas and in certain sections of Florida, the government has been quietly experimenting with lily culture against the possibility of growing them in this country. No small measure of success has attended these efforts. The proper soil and a favorable climate has been found in many localities, and if the department of agriculture succeeds in making their plants ripen simultaneously or ahead of the over-sea product, the Bermuda monopoly will be a thing of the past.—

April.

"Nancy Brown" in Millinery.
An illustration of one method of using very wide ribbon as a trimming on a hat is seen in a model from Paris, called the "Nancy Brown." It is of white French chip braid of the Leghorn plaiting, with the crown very wide and low. The brim, wide and plain, left unfaced, is bent up at the back. Soft satin ribbon, sixteen inches wide, with dotted center in Marine blue, and printed floriated bordering, in design of rosebuds, forget-me-nots and small green leaves, laid over the crown, is gathered up at each side under a mat of flowers about the size of a saucer of an after-dinner coffee cup, of a half blown rosebud set in a mass of velvet forget-me-nots and small green leaves.
White tulle draped on the bandeau underneath is encircled by the loose-laid Liberty satin ribbon in pale rose pink a rosette bow formed of the ribbon on each side of the front.—

A Layman's Lenten Sermon.

Twenty-ninth day of Lent, St. Luke XI 9v.—And I say unto you, ask and it shall be given to you; seek and ye shall find; knock and it shall be opened unto you.

Christ taught his disciples prayer.
He taught them how to address, "Our Father, who art in heaven, thy name be glorified."

On many a battlefield, and may a peace be this simple, yet eloquent little prayer when said to the sick and the dying. It has been said in the palaces of kings and in the hovels of the lowly. It is a common supplication to the Father in heaven to watch over us and guard us. This prayer, Christ, the Master, taught his disciples and they have taught us.

He also told them to pray at all times. To pray hard and earnestly and that their prayers would be answered. He told them to ask their heavenly Father for their wants and that it was meet and right that they should receive them they would be granted them.

In prayer Christ has taught us
the greatest ease to a wounded and sore heart. To God we can open our inmost souls and pour forth our troubles to one, and listens who suffers with us and would do all in His power to alleviate our sufferings.

Prayer is Christ's greatest gift to man. It is the greatest of gifts of all ages of all times. It means from Him "Our Great Master" we can receive help if we ask for it and can be benefitted by his council and comfort.

Christ the master told his disciples to ask and it would be given unto them. How true is this. How much more to the poor and the sick and the dying is a prayer to the Almighty than medical aid and how comforting to the lonely and bereft is an outpouring of the soul to God.

We do not pray enough. We simply repeat daily prayers in a hurried way and hide within our souls matters we should discuss with our father in prayer.

LATE BOOKS

Daughter of the Sioux
The Daughter of the Sioux, by General Charles King, of Milwaukee, is one of the latest of spring books treats of the army life in a manner different from that which commonly is found in army stories and is full of fight, intrigue and complications.
There is the much maligned hero who suffers all sorts of indignities, but who comes out gloriously in the end. Then General King always has some character in his book that the reader would like to kick and in this is latest, Major Flint, a cankerous, omnipotent officer must bear the brunt of the complaint. Captains Ray and Blake and their charming wives are all too well known to readers of King's stories to need more than a mention that they are included and the reader meets again Major Webb and greets also, for the first time, Mr. Hay and his wife who resided near Fort Frayne and whose half-breed niece Nanette Flower is the cause of all the hero's troubles. The story is cleverly told and the scenes are all so well depicted that the interest of the reader does not lag for moment from the first chapter.
King's army stories are especially interesting when he places himself behind the ramparts of a prairie fort and fights off hordes of Indians and always fills the mind with the idea that the General himself was in that fight, and writes what we actually saw. General King is a Wisconsin boy, a Wisconsin man an soldier, and Wisconsin people always read with interest his writings.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE. }

NOTICE is hereby given that at the Judicial Election to be held in the several towns, wards, villages, and election districts of the State of Wisconsin, on the first Tuesday of April, A. D. 1903, being the seventh day of said month, the following amendment to section four, of article seven, of the constitution of the State of Wisconsin, as amended in 1877, is to be submitted to the people in pursuance of the requirements of chapter ten, of the laws of 1903, in accordance with the substance of a notice received from the County Clerk, to-wit:

No. 422, A.]

CHAPTER 10

[Published March 13, 1903]

AN ACT to submit to the people an amendment to the constitution, relating to the number of justices of the supreme court and to provide for elections to fill vacancies in the office of justice of the supreme court.

Whereas, The legislature of this state at the biennial session for the year 1901, proposed and adopted by a vote of the members elected to each of the two houses, an amendment to the constitution of this state (the same being in fact an amendment to section 4, of article 7 thereof as amended in 1877), the proposed amendment being in the following language:

Resolved, by the assembly, the senate concurring, That section 1 of article VII of the constitution be amended so as to read as follows: Section 1. The chief justice and associate justices of the supreme court shall be severely known as the justices of said court, with the same terms of office of ten years respectively as now provided. The supreme court shall consist of seven justices, any four of whom shall be a quorum, to be elected as now provided, not more than one each year. The justice having been longest a continuous member of said court, or in case two or more such senior justices shall have served for the same length of time, then the one whose commission first expires shall be ex-officio, the chief justice.

Whereas, the foregoing proposed amendment to the constitution was duly ratified and agreed to by the legislature of this state for the year 1903; and

Whereas, It is provided by section 9, of article 7, of the constitution that vacancies in the office of justices of the supreme court shall be filled by appointment of the governor, which shall continue until a successor is elected and qualified; therefore,

The people of the State of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:
Section 1. The proposed amendment to the constitution of this state shall be submitted to the people at an election to be held on Tuesday, the 7th day of April, 1903, and if the people shall approve and ratify said amendment by a majority of the electors voting thereon such amendment shall become a part of the constitution of this state.

Section 2. Notice of the submission of said question, the form of ballot, the conduct of the election and the canvass of the votes shall all be as provided in chapter 5 of the Wisconsin statutes of 1898, entitled "Caucuses, Electors and General Elections," and the submission and canvass shall be particularly as provided in section 39, 94d and 94t, as the last chapter was amended by chapter 97 of the laws of 1899.

Section 3. In the event of the ratification of said proposed amendment by the people, one of the additional justices provided for shall be elected at the judicial election in April, 1904, and his term shall commence on the first Monday of January, 1905. The other additional justice provided for by the proposed constitutional amendment shall be elected at the judicial election in April, 1906, and his term shall commence on the first Monday of January, 1907.

Section 4. In the event that said proposed constitutional amendment shall be adopted and ratified by the people, section 94s, of the Wisconsin statutes of 1898, as amended by section 1 of chapter 7 of the laws of 1899, shall be amended by striking out in the seventh line thereof the words "justices of the supreme court or" and by adding at the end of said section 1 of chapter 7, the following: "In all cases of vacancy in the offices of justice of the supreme court, the person appointed to fill such vacancy shall continue to hold his office until an election can be had in some year in which no other justice is elected pursuant to the constitution and laws of the state, and until his successor has been duly elected and qualified;" so that section 94s shall in that event when so amended read as follows:

Section 94s. In all cases of vacancy in the office of circuit judge or county judge, the election to fill such vacancy shall be held on the first Tuesday of April next after the vacancy shall happen, in case such vacancy shall happen twenty days before such day; and if no election shall then be held for such purpose, or if the vacancy shall happen within twenty days next before said first Tuesday, then the election shall be held on the first Tuesday in April next thereafter. In all cases of vacancy in the office of justice of the supreme court the person appointed to fill such vacancy shall continue to hold his office until an election can be had in some year in which no other justice is elected pursuant to the constitution and laws of the state and until his successor has been duly elected and qualified.

Section 5. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.
Approved March 12, 1903.

Said election to be held and conducted, votes canvassed and returns made in accordance with law.

Given under my hand and official seal at the Capitol, in the city of Madison, this 16th day of March, A. D. 1903.

PLATFORM

The following resolution adopted at the convention when the citizens ticket was endorsed is the platform of the campaign.

Resolved, that it is the sense of this convention, that the mayor and common council and the board of education of this city, should in every particular, be governed by the provisions of the charter under which the city is organized; and we demand that in all matters the requirements of the charter be strictly observed. Resolved, that strict economy in the administration of our city affairs is especially desired, and we demand of all city officials that business principles be observed, and a better system of bookkeeping and accounting adopted.

THE MOVEMENT POPULAR

It must be very plain to democrats as well as republicans, by this time that the citizens movement is popular. While the democratic party, as a party is not a unit, their ranks have been invaded, and their organization weakened. It is a good time for every sober minded, thinking democrat to ask himself this question, "Why should I oppose the citizens movement for reform?"

The Gazette has welcomed the new order of things because the paper believes that city government should be free from political bias. The paper also believed that the republican party as an organization was ready to support the movement. The hope has been entertained that the democratic party as an organization would also be found in line, and this would have been the case had wise council prevailed. As it is the opposition is not formidable. The men who are opposing the movement have nothing to offer for the course they are pursuing. They stand for nothing but personal ambition.

The people are thoroughly awake to the situation. They have inaugurated a crusade of practical reform, opposition, whether organized or individual, means to defy public sentiment, and the man or the party who does this takes on responsibility of a questionable sort.

There are many things that need reforming in city government. One of the first and most important is the system of accounting. There is no reason why the books of the city should not be kept with the same degree of clearness and intelligence as the books of any other corporation. A trial balance once a month would show the condition of every fund in the city. This would make it possible for the treasurer to publish a report that would contain information as well as figures.

The department of streets under the supervision of the street commissioner should be placed on a business basis, and the school board should also be required to adopt a system of accounting that would show the cost of maintaining the several departments. When these improvements are established the whole system should be given publicity, not so much through the press as in the city hall.

This building belongs to the public and every man employed in it is a public servant. The books and accounts of every department represents bills that the public pays. The people have a right to demand that these accounts be open to inspection and that they be properly kept.

If the stone crusher is being run at a loss of 25 to 50c per yard, the people have a right to know it, and say something about it.

If money is being unwisely squandered on the streets, the people have a right to protest. If charter provisions are being violated in any department it is time to call a halt.

There are many important questions for the new council to consider. They will receive due attention if the citizens ticket is elected. These are business issues of the campaign and they are of vital importance to every tax payer. The ticket should be elected by a majority that will give the opposition to understand that public sentiment can not be lightly ignored.

THE RED CROSS

The Red Cross Society has for many years been the pride of the nation. Its world wide fame has reflected credit upon the founder, and no woman in the land is better known, or more deeply loved than Miss Clara Barton. She has long represented the highest type of Christian philanthropy and her name has stood for all that was noble and unselfish in the work to which her life was devoted.

Possessed of some means and a great loving heart that beat in sympathy with suffering, she has during the past 20 years spent $76,000 of her own money and devoted her life without compensation of any kind, except the satisfaction that came to her own heart in the work of relief which she so intelligently conducted.

That the disinterested work of this noble woman should be discredited, and the woman humiliated by an attempt to retire her from active work, seems too absurd to command attention, and yet this has been done through a memorial to congress, prepared by parties who were jealous of her success and the strong hold that she has on the American people.

It was made to appear that the business of the organization was loosely conducted and the president was induced to endorse a recommendation to congress, asking for a change in management to be brought about by a change in the by-laws. Charges preferred and implied, indicated that Miss Barton was incapacitated on account of feebleness and age and an effort was made to retire her as honorary president on an annuity for life. This of course was resented by her friends who claim that she is as vigorous in mind and in body as at any time in her life and thoroughly competent to continue the work.

A reply to the memorial has just been published by the directors of the Red Cross society, giving the history of the work and the causes that created friction. It is well worth reading. A copy may be secured by addressing Walter Phillips, chairman, New York city. Miss Barton will continue in the work, as congress has no power to remove her.

MANUFACTURING

Manufacturers' materials formed more than half of the imports into the United States in the month of February. This is the first time in the history of our importations that manufacturers materials have constituted more than half of the total imports. In 1882 manufacturers materials formed 33.9 per cent. of the total imports; in 1892, 34.2 per cent. in 1902, 46.1 per cent.; in the eight months ending with February 1903, 46.98 per cent and in February 1903, 51.3 per cent. of the total imports into the United States. Meantime importations as a whole have greatly increased and seem likely in the fiscal year which ends three months hence, to reach, for the first time, the billion dollar line. Yet the growth in manufacturers materials has been even more rapid than the general growth of imports, as is indicated by the above figures, which show that the percentage which manufacturers materials form of this increased total has grown from 33.9 per cent in 1882 to 51.3 per cent in February 1903.

These facts are disclosed by the Advance Sheets from the Monthly Summary of Commerce & Finance. Just issued by the treasury bureau of statistics. It further shows regarding this increase of manufacturers' materials imported in the 8 months ending with February 1903 exceeded by 50 millions of dollars that of the corresponding period of the preceding year. In the month of February alone, the importation of manufacturers' materials was 42 millions against 32 millions in February of last year, an increase of nearly one-third. For the fiscal year, ending with June 30, 1902, the importations of manufacturers' materials for the first time passed the 400 million dollar-line, having grown from 243 millions in 1882 to 278 millions in 1892, and 415 millions in 1902. The figures for the 8 months of the fiscal year justify the assertion that for the 12 months ending June 30, 1903, the total value of manufacturers' materials imported will exceed $450,000,000, and will far surpass that of any preceding year in the history of our import trade.

The senate can well afford to take all the criticism that may be offered.

DEMIES HELD A CONVENTION

CHOSE MOUAT TO RUN AS MAY-ORALITY CANDIDATE.

TURNED DOWN THE LEAGUE

Were Finally Stamped by Motion of Richard Valentine, on City Government.

Resolutions were not popular at the democratic city convention Saturday night, one being killed as soon as it was read, and a motion to adjourn prevented the introduction of the last one. As it was two of the League candidates, C. W. Reeder for justice of the peace, and Martin Dunn for Sealer of Weights and Measures, were endorsed by the convention.

Well Attended
The convention was well attended and the spectators who expected to see some fun over the resolutions that the League sympathizers would introduce, were disappointed, as the convention nominated its ticket and transacted its other business with dispatch.

The meeting was called to order by P. J. Mouat, chairman of the city committee, who read the call. Edward H. Ryan was chosen temporary chairman and J. J. Cunningham temporary secretary, and later in the session the organization was made permanent.

Chairman Ryan thanked the convention for the honor conferred upon him and made a short speech in the necessity of carrying out the principles of the party and working together in the present campaign.

On Credentials
A committee on credentials consisting of W. A. Johnson, First Ward, John Doran Second Ward, P. J. Moat Third Ward, F. C. Burpee Fourth Ward and Edward M. Dermody Fifth Ward, was appointed by the chair, and later reported the list of delegates entitled to seats in the convention.

On Motion of F. C. Burpee the chairman of the different ward delegations was instructed to cast the full vote of the ward. J. J. Cunningham was elected chairman of the city committee and the chairman of each ward delegation to compose the balance of the committee.

Down Resolution
Chairman Ryan announced that nominations for mayor were next in order and the following resolution was introduced by O. A. Ostreich.

Resolved, by the delegates to the Democratic city convention duly chosen at caucuses and in convention assembled, that the nomination of A. O. Wilson, for Mayor, A. E. Badger, for clerk, Martin Dunn for sealer of weights and measures, S. C. Burnham for school commissioner at large and C. W. Reeder for justice of the peace, by the Citizens' ticket be, and each of them is hereby endorsed for said respective offices, and that no nominations be made for said offices by this convention.

P. J. Mouat offered an amendment to the resolution that it be laid on the table. The amendment was carried by a large majority.

Mouat For Mayor
The convention then proceeded to an informal ballot for mayor. P. J. Mouat received 49½ votes and A. O. Wilson, 16½. On motion of James Sennett the informal ballot was declared formal and P. J. Mouat declared the nominee of the convention for mayor. Charles Horn presented the name of Thomas Dowling as a candidate for city clerk and the secretary of the convention was instructed to cast the ballot for him.

E. H. Ryan was the unanimous choice of the convention for school commissioner at large, and Charles W. Reeder for justice and Martin Dunn for sealer of weights and measures were endorsed.

Convention Stamped
The following resolution presented by Richard Valentine stamped the convention and the delegates left the hall like a flock of sheep.

We, the representatives of the democratic party of the city of Janesville, in convention assembled, looking forward into the great field of duty and opportunity, and appealing to the judgment of the citizens of our city, make the following declarations:

We point with pride to the enviable and brilliant record made in the past by the officials of the city of Janesville and the admirable way in which the business and executive departments of the city have been heretofore conducted.

We view with alarm the prevalence of a disposition on the part of some of our citizens to harshly criticize the servants of our city, who have so kindly and disinterestedly devoted their valuable time to its government and affairs.

We deplore the movement now on foot to remove the seat of our city government from No. 116 West Milwaukee St., to the city hall and demand that said seat of government remain where it has been in the past and where all branches of our city government has been so well managed and conducted.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.

On and after April 1st, 1903, no contract will be made for business locals. The rate for this class of advertising will be ten cents per line for each and every issue of either Daily or Weekly. The Gazette adopts this policy for two reasons:

First: To improve the news columns of the paper. The first consideration of any newspaper is the reader, and the value to the advertiser depends entirely upon its popularity with the reading public. Business locals frequently flood the composing room the last hour before the paper goes to press, and news is sacrificed to meet the demands of this class of business.

Second: The Daily Gazette is rapidly extending its circulation throughout the county, giving the Janesville merchant an opportunity to talk to the farmer as well as the city customer, six days in the week. This means faster machinery, and increased expense in producing a paper as well as increased value for advertising purposes.

The Gazette has also adopted what is known as the space rate for display advertising, and prices have been placed within the reach of all advertisers.

The paper has long enjoyed a liberal patronage from home merchants, and it is in position today to furnish better service than at any time in its history.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF THAT DOOR

ROUND HOUSE AT NORTHWEST-ERN HAS BAD ENTRANCE.

WALTER REASON INJURED

Was Caught Between the Engine and Casing, on Sunday Morning.

Narrow doorways at the North-Western roundhouse claimed another victim yesterday morning in the person of Walter A. Reason, of Watertown, a fireman in the employ of the company. Some provisions should be made by the company to protect its employes from injury or death by being caught in the narrow doorways. Two men have already lost their lives by being caught between the side of an engine and the door sill, the last one being William Daly who was killed on the afternoon of December 26. Reason was caught in the same place yesterday morning and he is very fortunate that he was not killed although he was badly injured.

Struck by Door

The engine which Reason was firing was ordered out on a run to leave at 7:30 and was started out of the round house about half past six. He was standing in the gateway between the cab and the tender and reached around to the box on the top of the tender just as the engine was passing through the doorway. His body was caught between the door sill and the tender and rolled along between the two until the door was passed and he fell to the ground. Several of the roundhouse employes who saw the accident went to his assistance and he was carried to the roundhouse office. A call for the patrol was sent in and Drs. Woods and Palmer.

Taken to Hospital

The injured man was carried to the Palmer hospital where it was found that his right arm was broken in two places between the elbow and shoulder, his left collar bone was broken, his spine injured, and he was badly bruised and crushed about the hips, besides receiving several cuts about the head and face.

How he came to escape with his life is a wonder as the engine on which he was firing was a big one and almost filled the doorway. The tender showed that his body was rolled along its side for a distance of almost eight feet before it fell to the ground.

RUN OVER WHILE CROSSING STREET

W. J. Litts Was the Victim of an Accident Late This Afternoon.

W. J. Litts, residing at 203 Washington street, was the victim of an accident this afternoon that might have cost him his life, but as it is he escaped with several cuts about the head and some severe bruises.

Mr. Litts was crossing the street on the Milwaukee street bridge, when he was struck by a surrey driven by Mrs. A. J. Harris and knocked down.

The surrey passed over him when he fell and people who saw the accident thought he was killed. The patrol wagon was called to convey him to his home, but he soon recovered consciousness and was taken to Dr. W. H. Judd's office where his injuries were dressed. Mr. Litts is somewhat deaf and doubtless did not hear the approach of the surrey.

MEN CONGREGATE IN THE CHURCHES

Special Services Were Held in Both the Catholic and Protestant Churches Yesterday.

Sunday was men's day in both Protestant and Catholic churches. In addition to the monster mass meeting at the Congregationist church an unusually large gathering of men was held at St. Mary's in the morning when the Guard of Honor was addressed by Father Hoferer, S. J., of Marquette college, Milwaukee. Fully three hundred men were present, seated in a body. On the evening before Father Hoferer heard confession.

Father Hoferer conducted high mass, after which he addressed the men upon the Life Beautiful. When he had concluded his remarks, Father Goebel briefly spoke to the men, telling them of the gratification it gave him to see so splendid attendance, especially as it gave witness of an increasing religious sentiment among the men.

DON'T GET MARRIED.

So Say Both Man and Wife After Long Experience.

Wedded Life, in the Case of This Veritable Couple, Was a Flat Failure—Neither Found Any Real Happiness.

"Never get married." Such is the advice given to young people by Mrs. Reuben Nagle, a farmer of St. Lawrence, Pa., a sad faced woman of 70 years. Her husband is about the same age, and for half a century they lived together as man and wife.

Only the other day they agreed to live apart, and they went about making the arrangements apparently without a pang of regret. First, they went to an attorney's office and he drew up the papers. Next they had deeds prepared making an equal division of their property. They started out in life with little, and wound up half a century of matrimony with about $10,000 invested in real estate and securities. This was amicably divided without the shadow of a difference. The lawyer, having prepared the papers, handed them to the couple and the husband paid his fee. Then they walked to the courthouse together, filed the papers in the recorder's office, and in the corridor of the building separated without a display of any emotion whatever. "Well, good-by," he said, and she replied "Good-by." They did not even shake hands, only the slightest nod as each went his or her own way.

Their neighbors declare that they never knew them to quarrel, though they often had strong differences of opinion. "In fact," said Mr. Nagle, "we drifted as naturally into the idea of separating as we did into matrimony. We simply decided to live apart because we weren't happy, and that's all there is about it."

The document which they filed in the courthouse reads in part as follows:

"Divers disputes and unhappy differences having arisen between Reuben

"WELL, GOOD-BY."

Nagle and Catherine, his wife, for which reason they have consented to live separately and apart from each other during their natural lives. He will not, without her consent, visit her, or knowingly enter any house where she may dwell or reside."

It will be observed that the husband agrees that he will not enter any house in which his wife may be, and he says that he will be only too glad to abide by that part of the articles of separation. Mrs. Nagle has resumed her residence in the old homestead at St. Lawrence, which she entered as a bride and has occupied ever since. It was there that she was found and questioned by a Chicago Tribune reporter as to her views on marriage, when she declared:

"Never get married. That's my advice. I've found little happiness in the wedded state, and the same is the case with a large percentage of others. There are some in my own neighborhood. You read of others in the newspapers, and some don't say much about it. We didn't have much money when we started out in life together. We were economical and thrifty, and I thought that its possession would bring me contentment. In that I was mistaken. We accumulated little compared with the great fortunes of the world, but it was enough for our needs and yet we were not happy."

"There was a time when I believed that the possession of money would bring me, as a married woman, the greatest satisfaction in the world, but I found that I was mistaken. Young man, just take this advice: Don't get married, and accept this as the truth: Money alone brings neither contentment nor happiness."

Mr. Nagle has gone to live on one of the farms which he secured by the division of their property. It is in the eastern section of the county, about ten miles from St. Lawrence, and there he expects to spend the remainder of his days. Unless they should happen to meet by chance, it is not likely that they will see each other on this side of the grave. They simply have allowed the fires of love to die out, and not a spark of affection remains.

Quebec's System of Dairy Instruction.

A Canadian paper tells of the Quebec system of dairy instruction as follows:

A pretty clear idea of the system followed in Quebec was obtained from Messrs. Bourbeau, Leclair, and Plamondon at the Ottawa conference. Practically all the cheese and butter factories are organized in syndicates. For each syndicate (including about 20 to 25 factories) there is an instructor. Above these instructors—of whom there are 45—is a chief instructor, Mr. Bourbeau, and three general instructors. To Mr. Bourbeau the local instructors make weekly written reports, and he is thus able to keep close tab on their work. In case of special difficulty the work of the local instructor is supplemented by a visit from a general instructor or Mr. Bourbeau himself.

Before a man can even apply for the position he must have served at least three years as chief of a factory. Then he may apply to the secretary of the Dairy Association for admission to the dairy school. When this application is made an inspector is instructed to visit the applicant at his factory and secure a statement from the purchaser of the factory's goods as to the quality of the latter. If the visit shows the factory in a satisfactory condition, and the report of the buyer as to the quality of the factory's output is favorable, the applicant for the place of inspector may enter the dairy school. If he passes the required examination at the end of the school term he is permitted to serve as instructor for 12 months. If his work that year merits the approval of the general inspector he can take a second term at the school and then, on passing another examination, he gets his diploma. But still he is not at the end of it, as he is required to return to the school once in three years in order that he may keep in touch with all the developments that occur from time to time in dairy practice; and even after all this he is subject to dismissal for cause. That ought to insure efficiency.

An instructor is really a Provincial officer. True, he must pass an examination before a board appointed by the Provincial Dairy Association, and part of his salary is paid by a tax upon the factories in his syndicate, but his appointment is ratified by the Lieutenant-Governor-Council; he receives a salary, and not fees, and half his salary is paid from the Provincial treasury. He thus has the standing and independence of a public officer and has the authority required to keep the factories under his supervision up to the mark.

Two Wisconsin Dairy Meetings.

The second meeting and the thirty-first meeting of the Wisconsin Dairy-men's Association were held in the city of Fond du Lac. At the latter meeting the president, J. Q. Emery, contrasted the conditions under which the two meetings were held. In part, he said: The second annual meeting of this association was held in the hotel chambers in this city of Fond du Lac, February 17 and 18, 1874. At that time Hon. W. D. Hoard, then secretary of the association, reported the production of cheese in this state as 10,000,000 pounds, which sold at about 10 cents a pound. The product of the Wisconsin cheese factories for 1902 approximates 90,000,000 pounds which at ten cents a pound (probably an under-estimate) shows a total estimated value of the cheese product of Wisconsin for 1902 to be $9,000,000, an increase of more than 800 per cent on the product of 1873.

The published records of the Fond du Lac meeting for 1874 disclose no discussion whatever concerning the production of butter. The production of cheese only was considered. The records of that meeting do not in any way show the butter product in Wisconsin for that year. Such a thing as our present system of creameries was unknown and probably undreamed of, and there were few private dairies. Contrast that condition with the year 1902 when the factory-made butter in Wisconsin amounted to 74,000,000 pounds and the butter produced upon the farms may be taken at 44,750,000 pounds. The estimated value of creamery-made butter is $4,975,000, and of the farm butter is $8,950,000, making a total estimated value of the entire butter product of Wisconsin for 1902, the sum of $23,925,000.

Meeting of Ayrshire Breeders.

The 28th annual meeting of the Ayrshire Breeders' Association was held at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York, January 29, 1903, with about fifty members and visitors present. The officers elected were: Geo. H. Yeaton, Dover, N. H., president; Obadiah Brown, Providence, R. I., Thomas Turnbull, Jr., Casanova, Va.; Charles C. Doe, South Newbury, Vt.; E. J. Fletcher, Greenfield, N. H.; vice presidents; C. M. Winslow, Brandon, Vt., secretary; N. S. Winsor, Greenville, R. I., treasurer; J. F. Converse, Woodville, R. I., J. Andrew Casterline, Dover, N. J., executive committee for three years. The report of the treasurer showed about $5,000 in treasury. The report of the secretary showed a removal by death of six members and twenty-four new members added. It was voted to continue the Home Dairy test for the next year with the same premiums.

"AFTER THE BALL"

(Original.)

Last night was the end of the house party. There was a dance, and champagne flowed like water.

What did we do after supper? I have a confused remembrance of something going on in the bachelor quarters. Was it boxing or fencing?

Where is my handkerchief? I reach for my dinner jacket on a chair beside my bed and take my handkerchief from the pocket. With it comes a slip of paper. On it is a hasty scrawl in pencil in a feminine hand:

Consider our acquaintance ended. M. Heavens! I have disgraced myself, and Mollie has discarded me. How, when, did it happen? After supper, when we were romping in the drawing room? I don't remember Mollie being there. I must get up at once, go to her and beg forgiveness. Where is my watch? Only 6 o'clock! Not a person will be down before 9. Meanwhile I must toss about in bed, banging the pillow with my head, which aches more and more every minute. Oh, that man should put an enemy into his mouth to steal away his brains! I have not tasted alcoholic drink for six months before last night, and I solemnly resolve never to taste it again.

What could I have said or done to offend her? Doubtless talked thick and showed in other ways that I had been drinking. No wonder she wrote that slip. She, in all her purity, to mate with one who could so forget himself! But when did I receive it? Who brought it to me? How can I expect to remember that since I cannot remember other matters? It is all over between us. Mollie will never overlook my conduct. I'm ruined.

I turned over, buried my face under the bedclothes and groaned.

I looked at my watch every ten minutes. The intervals seemed half an hour. When it was 8 o'clock, I got up, dressed and went downstairs. The house was as still as death. At 9 o'clock I heard a servant in the dining room, and, going in there, I asked for a cup of coffee. This made me feel somewhat more comfortable. Returning to my room, I lay down and dozed till 10 o'clock, then went downstairs again. Most of the guests were at breakfast. I joined them, drank another cup of coffee and swallowed a piece of toast with difficulty. Then I went into the smoking room. Mollie had not yet come down, and I wanted to get out of the way, avoiding a meeting with her in the presence of others. I lighted a cigar, but it tasted bad, and I threw it away. Bob Anderson came in and sat down opposite me. He lit a cigar and sat smoking ruefully. I saw that something was on his mind, and as Bob is a communicative fellow I felt sure it would come out. Presently he came and sat down by me.

"I made an awful ass of myself last night," he said.

"Indeed you did," I replied. I remembered nothing about him the night before, but it soothed me to think that he might have disgraced himself worse than I had done.

"That was an awful break I made at the supper table,"

"Yes, it was," I replied.

"The confounded bottle slipped out of my hand. Is there no way to get a wine stain out of silk?"

"None. But you can buy a new dress, I suppose."

"Buy Marion Hunt a new dress! That's what made all the trouble. I offered to do so, and she resented the offer, taking it as an insult. Her father is rich, and she has a fine income in her own right."

"Well, Bob, don't worry. I'm in a worse fix than you. I offended my fiancée, and that is all over between us."

"How did you do that? You certainly were not boozey. You drank nothing but a few glasses of champagne."

"Don't know what I did." I handed him the slip.

"How the deuce did you get hold of that?"

"Found it this morning in the pocket of my dinner jacket."

"Why, it's the identical paper Marion Hunt sent me."

"What?"

"When I covered her dress with a whole bottle of wine, she went upstairs very angry. I scribbled a few words to her begging permission to present her with another dress. She tore off a piece of my note and wrote that on it. But, really, how did you get it?"

It seemed as if a thousand pounds were taken off my shoulders.

"What did we do after supper?" I asked.

"Why, you and I played with the folks."

"And took off our coats?"

"Certainly."

"And hung them up?"

"No; threw them on chairs."

"We're about of a size."

"Very close indeed."

Condemns Luxury in Dress. The Roumanian Minister for Public Instruction, Spiru Haret, has addressed a note to all school inspectors in the country complaining of the luxury in dress among female teachers. He directs the inspectors strongly to recommend all teachers to adopt the national costume, the peasants' dress of their special village.

Make-up of the Senate. All the states in the union have their full quota of Senators except Delaware, which has none, and of the eighty-eight Senators all told, sixty-one of them are lawyers. Of the rest, one is a civil engineer, two are doctors, three are journalists, and the others are bankers, miners, farmers, business men and politicians.

Recasting Ideas.

There are epochs in the history of the human race when the decayed branches fall from the tree of humanity, and when institutions, grown old and exhausted sink and leave space for fresh institutions, full of sap, which renew the youth and recast the ideas of a people.—Lamartine.

The Rural Mails.

Rural free delivery is a luxury which comes high, but the people demand it. It is only a few years since the thing was an experiment, for which a few thousand dollars was voted. But the item in the new appropriation bill calls for $12,619,000.

Has No Colored Membership.

There is not a single negro in either house of the South Carolina general assembly this year. It is the first time that has been the case since the enfranchisement of the negro, although last year there was but one colored member.

Oldest Revolutionary Daughter.

The oldest of the few remaining original daughters of the Revolution is Mrs. Mary F. Cobb of Russellville, Ind. Her father was a private in Washington's army, and her grandfather was a captain.

There is a place of worship in an eastern city where tiny bouquets of flowers are, at the close of every morning service, handed to each lay member of the congregation. During service the flowers decorate the altar and the pulpit.

CURES CATARRHAL DEAFNESS.

One Week's Use of Hyomei Did More Than Six Months' Treatment By Specialists.

In the treatment of deafness, which is often a result of catarrh, Hyomei acts almost immediately upon the inflamed membrane and the hearing begins to return at once. A few days treatment will bring relief, and in three or four weeks, according to the severity of the case, a cure will be accomplished.

Miss Meeks of Mattawan, N. Y. says: Hyomei is truly wonderful. I have used it but short time but I see a great change in my condition. My hearing is improving rapidly, and I had no idea I would improve so rapidly in so short a time. My breath which was very offensive to myself and others, has lost its bad odor entirely. I have spent a great deal of money with catarrh specialists and can truly say that six months of their treatment is not equal to one month of Hyomei.

The People's Drug Co. are selling Hyomei upon the usual plan of agreeing to return the money if the medicine does not cure.

A complete outfit costs only $1.00 and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler will last a lifetime and there is enough Hyomei for more than a month's treatment. Additional bottles of Hyomei can be procured for 50 cents. Compare this small expense with the fees charged by specialists and then remember that if Hyomei does not cure, The People's Drug Co. will return your money.

What other treatment for catarrh and catarrhal colds is sold this way?

PIONEER PACKER GOES TO REWARD

LEFT A FORTUNE OF $20,000,000

Nine Children and a Widow Mourn the Loss of Loving Father and Husband—Made Gifts to Charity Under Promise of Secrecy.

Chicago, March 30.—Gustavus Franklin Swift, president of Swift & Co., pioneer and one of the men that made Chicago the packing center of the world, died suddenly at his home, 4848 Ellis avenue.

A hemorrhage, following an operation performed a week ago, was the cause of his death, which was most unexpected. At his bedside were gathered all his children and other members of his family with the exception of Herbert L. Swift, his son, who had left for New York on business connected with the firm.

In the morning Mr. Swift awakened apparently in the best of health and in excellent spirits. He seemed better than at any time since the operation.

"See the sun shining through the windows," he exclaimed to his wife. "It is going to be a magnificent day. I'll take a long sunbath from the window."

Leaves Large Fortune. Twenty minutes later he began to sink rapidly and as the hemorrhages increased in violence he became weaker and weaker. He retained his senses to the last and passed away quietly and peacefully.

Mr. Swift left a fortune conservatively estimated at $20,000,000.

Preparations for the funeral have not yet been completed, but the services will be held Tuesday afternoon at St. James' Methodist Episcopal church, of which Mr. Swift was a member. The burial will be at Mount Hope cemetery, where his eldest daughter, Anna May Swift, is buried.

His Business History. The story of G. F. Swift's business life is but the story, in a larger sense, of the life of the other pioneers. He was born in Massachusetts, at Sandwich, Cape Cod, June 24, 1839. In January, 1875, he came to Chicago, with his wife, formerly Miss Annie M. Higgins. He at once engaged in the cattle business and his first venture was the shipment of cattle over the mountains to Philadelphia. Two years later he branched into the hog and sheep industry. From that year the innovations he introduced have been too many to enumerate.

Large Family Mourns. G. F. Swift was the father of eleven children, nine of whom are living. The eldest is Louis F. Swift, the vice president of the firm of Swift & Co. He is forty-two years old. The others are Edward F. Swift, Helen L., now Mrs. Edward Morris; Charles H., Herbert L., George H., Gustavus F., Jr., Ruth M., now Mrs. E. Hammond Everz, and Harold H. Swift.

Gustavus Franklin Swift was essentially a leader, a man of action, and a man not to be turned aside from any purpose upon which he had set himself. He was ever busy, and to save time he was wont to have his stenographer ride to work with him in the morning while he sketched out the work of the day to her.

Of G. F. Swift, the philanthropist, little is known, although the sums, he gave to charities are immense. One of the conditions attached to any gift, however, was that the recipient was never to speak of it, and thus the knowledge of his charity was kept from the world.

The meager details of the disturbances leave it to be surmised that they were more serious than would appear from the official account.

Seed Corn for Illinois Farm Boys.

For the purpose of interesting the boys in the County Farmers' Institute and introducing improved seed corn into the several counties, the Illinois Farmers' Institute offers to furnish a package of seed corn, consisting of 500 grains of some pure bred variety grown by a member of the Illinois Corn Breeders' Association, to any boy under 18 years of age, who will send his name and address and four cents to pay postage on corn to A. B. Hostetter, Secretary, Springfield, Illinois. This is done on condition that the corn be grown by the boy as per the directions upon the package and a sample exhibited at the County Farmers' Institute of the county in which the applicant lives, and that prizes are offered for the same through the County Institute. The breeder and donor of the corn, the name of the variety, the score card of the Illinois Corn Growers' Association, to assist in selecting ten ears for exhibit, and the directions for planting and keeping record of same will all be printed on the package containing the seed. Varieties suitable to the latitude of the applicant will be sent to each one. The County Institutes that have tried this plan have aroused great interest in the institute meetings and have encouraged hundreds of boys to grow better corn, to attend the institute meetings and to become interested in better methods of farming. All names of boys desiring corn must be received by the first of April, that all may get the seed in time for planting.

Growing Cow Peas.

From the Farmers' Review: I have been a subscriber to your paper for some time and have never yet seen any article from this, Alexander, county. I saw in your paper of Feb. 11 an inquiry as to how to grow cowpeas. This depends on what variety is sown. I would sow one bushel of the Whippoorwill variety per acre, and sow them in May; about the 20th is a good time. If I was sowing the cowpeas I would not sow more than three pecks to the acre. I have grown both varieties, but I prefer the Whippoorwill variety to the Clay varieties, as the bunch varieties are much more easily handled. I would advise the reader, of Madison county, to sow his peas with wheat drill about May 20, and cut the crop off for hay when about half of the pea pods begin to get ripe and then plow his land and sow it to wheat. He will just be his pea crop ahead, as the roots of the peas benefit the soil. I would prefer taking the crop off to plowing it under. He will find that the pea hay will be excellent feed if he gets it cured in good shape for any stock, either cattle or horses. —A Reader, Unity, Alexander county, Illinois.

A Doubtful Method.

At a farmers' institute a speaker said: "Ventilation is a subject of much discussion and experimentation; but no ventilator has ever been invented that will change with the weather, as is necessary in ventilating a hen house. So, as the attendant must do it, the simplest way will be found the best, and this is to depend entirely upon the windows. On all pleasant days in the winter, when fowls are confined, the windows are opened sufficiently to give the fowls nearly as much sunlight and fresh air as they would get out of doors. At night the windows are closed, and the fowls do not suffer for fresh air until morning."

We very much doubt the soundness of this advice. Open windows and doors on some days are fruitful sources of colds and catarrhal troubles. It is far better to adopt a scientific method of ventilation and depend on it wherever the poultry house has to be tightly closed.

DYING WORDS OF GREAT MEN.

A Modest Aspiration.

A man was asked recently by the gruff clerk at the stamp window, after he had deposited two cents, "Well, what do you want?" He answered gently, "An automobile, please." Verily, a soft answer turneth away wrath. —Albany Argus.

Baby

Weighed Only Five Pounds.

Restless, Cried Day and Night.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Did Wonders, Cured Her.

A little over two years ago I had a little, nervous baby who weighed only five pounds at birth. At first she was restless and cross and after she was four weeks old she cried day and night, and would not sleep without narcotics. She was so nervous so that we did not dare to move when she did sleep a short time, as she would wake screaming as though she was going to have a fit. We called a doctor; he called it infantile colic; said he could relieve her, could not cure her. After a short time the effect of his medicine wore off and I was in despair. I tried all known home remedies and innumerable patent medicines. At last I gave her Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and she was easy and slept without narcotics. Since that time I have used a dozen bottles and would not be without it. I am now giving it to another baby and it has the same effect, immediate relief always. —Mrs. Vincent Zidek, Verona, N. D.

"Three years ago I was taken with nervous prostration, which brought on heart trouble, and my heart would palpitate at every little noise. I had smothering spells so that at times I would nearly sink away. I got one bottle each of Dr. Miles' Nervine and Heart Cure and I could feel good results from the first few doses. They have since effected a permanent cure. I recommend Dr. Miles' Remedies to all who suffer as I did." —Mrs. G. C. James, Fairmont, Nebraska.

Sells Land for $1,600 That Is Worth $40,000 and Becomes Insane.

St. Paul, Minn., March 30.—In despair over missing the opportunity of a lifetime to become a rich man, James H. Wilson became violently insane. Wilson owned a small piece of land on Jessamine street. The land is so situated that the Soo line in its entrance to this city must use it. Wilson and his wife agreed with a real estate man to sell the land. Wilson was to get at least $1,600, and whatever was over was to go to the realty man. The deal was consummated and $1,900 was realized. Then Wilson learned that the Soo was willing to give $40,000 for the strip. This sum to Wilson was wealth untold, and he flew into an insane frenzy. He occupies a padded cell.

DEWEY IS SCORED BY GERMANS

Admiral Taken to Task at Mass Meeting in Pittsburgh.

Pittsburg, March 30.—The German-American residents of this city had a warm meeting in Turner hall, and Admiral George Dewey, the hero of Manila Bay, was raked fore and aft as badly as he raked the Spanish ships with his guns.

The cause of the outburst was the utterance credited to Admiral Dewey, in which he declared that the recent mobilization of the American fleet in the Caribbean sea was an object lesson to Europe, and especially to the German emperor, of the strength and fighting power of the American navy.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the German-American Alliance of Pennsylvania, western branch, and was the annual gathering. Those present did not stop at criticizing the foremost naval officer of the United States, but adopted resolutions that condemned his remarks.
